A conversation about nursing

With:
Catherine Boshe, CNM of the Cooley Dickinson Center for Midwifery Care and Katie Lipp, Prehealth Program Director. Catherine graduated from Columbia University with a Master of Science degree in Midwifery and Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing. This is an opportunity for students interested in nursing to speak at the same time with their prehealth adviser and someone who went through nursing school, in order to get different perspectives on the process.

Lunch for the first 20 people.
December 9th, 12:15 – 1:00 PM
Sabin Reed 220

Smith College
Health and STEM Professions Lunchbags
www.smith.edu/science-advising
413.585.4296